What We Did

Millions in Bangladesh rarely get the chance to eat meat due to poverty. On Eid-ul-Adha 2025, with the generous support of our donors, we carried out Qurbani in multiple locations across the country – reaching some of the most marginalized communities, including Rohingya refugees, newly converted Muslims, and countless underprivileged families. Our mission was simple yet profound to bring the joy of Eid into homes where fresh meat is a rare luxury. For elderly individuals and vulnerable families who lack even basic cooking ingredients, we took an extra step – preparing and cooking the meat ourselves on Eid day, then delivering warm meals directly to their doors. In June 2025, we implemented our Qurbani program in eleven selected districts of Bangladesh: Dhaka, Mymensingh, Chapai Nawabganj, Cox's Bazar, Satkhira, Bandarban, Dinajpur, Barishal, Gaibandha, Sherpur, and Lalmonirhat. Through this effort, over 2,320 families received the nourishing gift of fresh Qurbani meat – a source of both sustenance and joy. By fulfilling these Qurbanis, we helped ensure that these families could celebrate Eid-ul-Adha with dignity, warmth, and a sense of belonging. This report captures the scale of our outreach, the impact we created together, and heartfelt stories from the communities we served.

Why we Did

In Bangladesh, 14% of the population lives in poverty and lacks sufficient food. A 2023 study by the South Asian Network on Economic Modeling (SANEM) found that 37% of low-income households occasionally skip meals, and 71% feel they eat less than necessary. On average, a Bangladeshi consumes only 4.0 kilograms of meat annually, starkly contrasting with the 120.2 kilograms consumed per person in the US. Our mission was to provide fresh meat to families, ensuring they could celebrate Eid without worrying about food insecurity.

Nearly five lakh Bangladeshis are expected to slip into extreme poverty between FY23 and FY24, surviving on less than $2.15 per day, as inflation will reach 9.6%, according to the World Bank's latest Macro Poverty Outlook for Bangladesh, which points to weak private consumption growth and high inflation as key drivers of this concerning trend.

Eid al-Adha is one of the largest festivals for Muslims worldwide, celebrated as animals are sacrificed (Qurbani) in remembrance of Prophet Ibrahim's willingness to sacrifice his son Ismail. Muslims who can afford the Qurbani, use this opportunity to feed the hungry. Projects for Humanity is committed to ensuring everyone can benefit from this Islamic obligation. Therefore, we provided fresh meat to ensure the most needy people can enjoy Eid al-Adha with their families without the worry of financial strain.

When We Did

We performed Qurbani During Eid-ul-Adha in June 2025

Where we Did

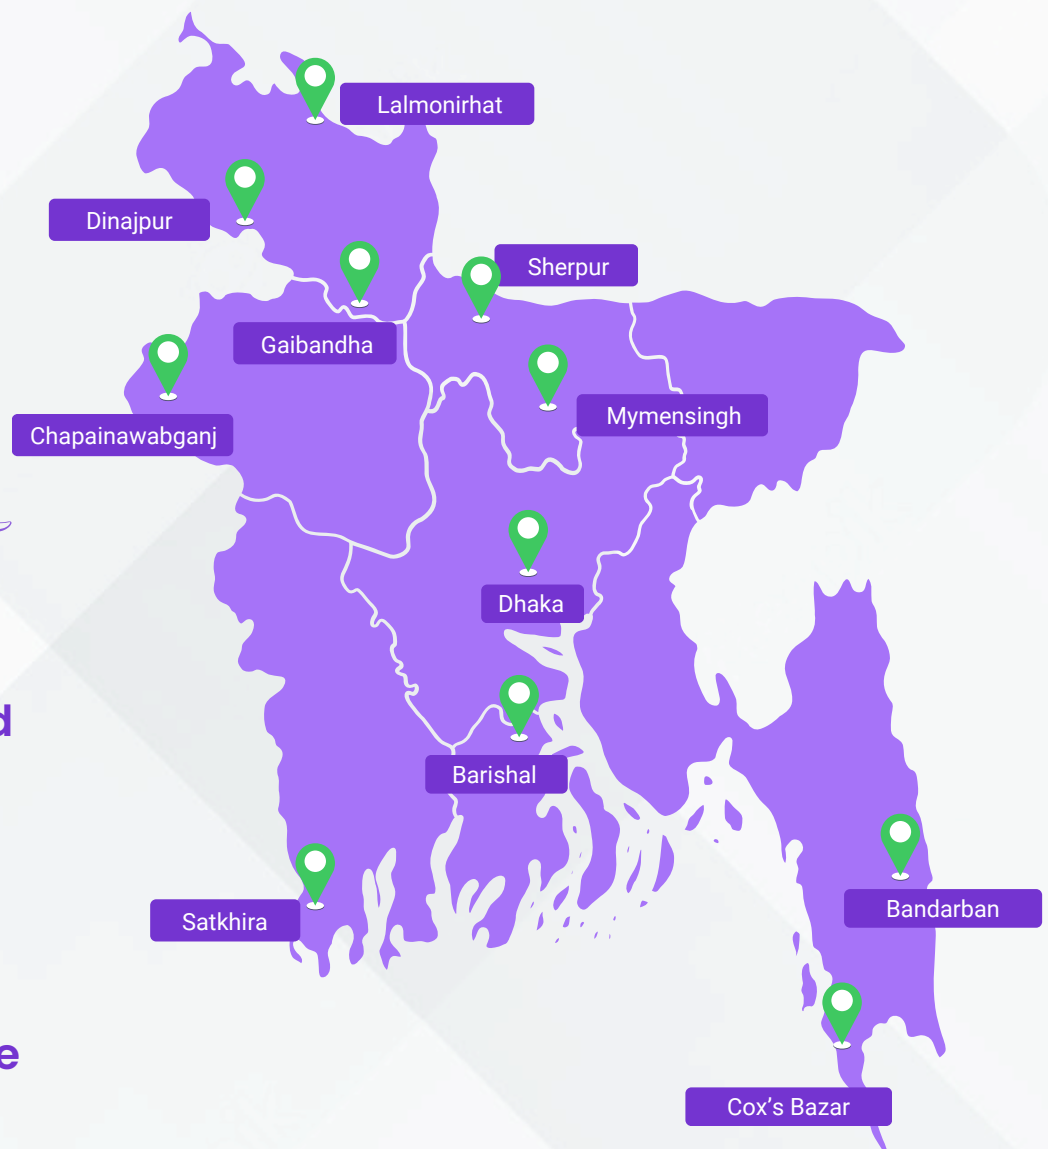

We performed Qurbani in 11 selected districts across rural areas of Bangladesh, including Dhaka, Mymensingh, Chapai Nawabganj, Cox's Bazar, Satkhira, Bandarban, Dinajpur, Barishal, Gaibandha, Sherpur, and Lalmonirhat.

Qurbani at Diffrent District of Bangladesh

Millions of people barely consume meat yearly in Bangladesh. Due to poverty, 14% of Bangladesh's population does not have access to food to meet their next meal. We identified those in different districts, and On Eid-ul-Adha 2025, we slaughtered 21 goats and 19 cows for them. Our volunteers diligently carried out the task of slaughtering the animals, carefully packaging the meat, and distributing it to those in need. Our goal was to make it possible for them to celebrate Eid among us and to help them feed their kids by giving them the gift of meat.

Through these bags full of meat, we successfully shared the joy of
Eid with over 10,500 people.

Prepared and Cooked Qurbani Meat for Distribution

During our Qurbani distribution in Lalmonirhat, a remote district along the northern border of Bangladesh, we came across many families and elderly individuals living in heartbreaking conditions. These vulnerable people not only lack access to regular meals but also cannot afford the basic spices or ingredients needed to cook the Qurbani meat they receive.

To ensure that no one is left behind, we took it a step further. On the day of Eid, our team lovingly prepared and cooked the meat—ready to serve and full of flavor. We then personally delivered warm, nourishing meals straight to their homes, allowing them to celebrate Eid with dignity, comfort, and joy.

Qurbani at Rohingya Refugee Camp

Rohingya refugees are the most disadvantaged refugee population in the world. Through they receive food as aid, but usually they cannot eat meat even once a year. But in order to maintain good health, they need protein. That's why we slaughtered 3 cows and 10 goats for the Rohingya refugees at their camp in Cox's Bazar on Eid-ul-Azha 2025. We carefully gave fresh meat to 500+ families with the intention of bringing happiness and nourishment to those in need. Our mission was to spread happiness and uplift the spirits of these individuals, especially the children, through the act of Qurbani.

Glimpses of Qurbani

Our volunteers worked tirelessly and happily, meticulously processing and assembling the bags as if they were crafting bags of pure joy.

We prepared meat for them, recognizing that they have hearts just like us and a desire to celebrate Eid with their families, just as we do.

Glimpses of Qurbani

We distribute not only packets of meat but also the joy of packets among people who come from far and wide to collect our Qurbani Meat.

We ensure that elderly men and women can savor the pleasure of tasting meat without hesitation or shyness by personally delivering it to their homes

Accomplishment

On behalf of our Muslim supporters, we carried out 154 Qurbanis with proper rituals and safety regulations. We delivered fresh meat, which meets the 10,500+ people's food needs in various parts of Bangladesh.

Testimonial

Qurbani Meat Recipient

My husband passed away a long time ago. I can't afford to feed my children meat even once a year. But because of this Qurbani and the kindness of people like you, we get the chance to enjoy meat with our children once a year. May God bless you all.

Qurbani Meat Recipient

My income is very low, and feeding meat to my children is beyond my means. This Qurbani meat brings us the joy we wait for all year. Watching my children eat something good fills my heart with happiness. I offer my heartfelt gratitude to all of you.
